 Three Salt Lake Celestials Lose All Their Savings Through Wah's Dishonesty.

> Eager to secure for himself a mansion in his native land caused Poc Wah, a resident of Salt Lake's Chinatown, to skip longing to several prominent Plum alley merchants, that had been entrusted to his Wah disappeared from his diny shack on the "row" Wednesday afternoon and is now believed to be headed for San Francisco. The police of that place have been instructed to keep a sharp lookout for the fugitive and several local Chinamen have gone to the coast city to join in the search. All outgoing vessels are being closely watched, but the chances of apprehending the offender are very small, as he is probably safely hidden by some of his follow countrymen in the depths of 'Frisco's Chinatown.

Gambling Was His Bane.

Gambling is said to be the cause of Poc Wah's downfall. Several years ago he came to the United States for the purpose of accumulating enough gold to keep him in royal Chinese style for the rest of his days. For a time he labored diligently and collected quite a neat bankrell by doing washing and peddling vegetables. Before long, however, he grew homesick and longed for the time when he could return to the land of hop and highbinders and live in luxury.

His pile of gold was not growing fast enough to suit him, so a few menths ago, in an effort to get rich quickly, he acquainted himself with American gambling games and attempted to wreck several of the green-cloth palaces on Commercial street.

"Craps" was Poc Wah's long suit. Armed with a pair of "bones," the son of Confucius would spend many an hour in courting the fickle goddess, but always with the same result—he lost.

Like man's others who have essayed to do the impossible. Poc Wah went broke. In despair he went to borrowing and after collecting various sums of money from some of his more properous brethren, jumped the town and is now thought to be fleeing to the Orient.

Partner Loses Heavily. Gambling Was His Bane.

Partner Loses Heavily.

Ock Kee, his partner in business, is the heaviest loser. For Wah is said to have gained access to Kee's counting-house and made away with his entire roll, amounting to several thousand dollars. Wing On Woo, another merchant, is minus $250, and Quong Wah Sing is also loser several hundred dollars. The total amount of For Wah's thefts is nearly $4000, according to the statement of a fellow Celestial. This represents the total savings of three Chinamen, two of whom have been in the Charles Botha Is Grateful.

"Dutch" Charley Botha, who is serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for the killing of his wife and a man named William Tibbets, has presented John Langenbacker of this city with a handsome horn-handle paper cane. Mrs. Langenbacker is said to have visited the prisoner in his dismal cell and to have supplied him with reading matter, and as a recompense for these kindnesses the prisoner presented the wo-man with the cane for her husband. Mrs. Langenbacker, who has been in correspondence with Charley Botha's mother in Germany has received word to the effect that the mother has started for this country to be near her. hat the truth will sooner or later come ! for this country to be near her son in his hours of gloom.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED.

By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havec with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigor to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Attendance at County Schools

Many Districts Have Failed to Report to the County Superintendent.

ment of pupils this year in the schools of Salt Lake county. The table is not complete because of the fact that many of the districts are derelict in reporting to County Superintendent Ashton, who says that he should have received a full report before this. The school at Union did not open on account of an epidemic of diph-theria at that place. Granite will open next week. Draper and Butterville will open as soon as their new buildings have been completed. Districts 24, 29, 31, 33, 43, 46, 47 and 65 have made no reports what-ever. Here is the table:

PICTURES ARE SHOCKING.

Movement Begun Against the Display in the Shop Windows.

A movement has been started in this city which has for its object the elimination from the windows of the majority of news stores and shops of like character, of indecent colored pictures. A short time ago the nulsance was confined to a very few stores, but the demand has grown with the display and now the filthy pictures are before the passers-by on several of the principal streets, to the disgust of many.

A petition is now being prepared to be sent to the Council asking that the nuisance be abated. It is pointed out that the Revised Statutes of Utah, chapter 31, and the ordinances of Sait Lake City, chapter 25, fully cover the misdemeanor and as there is a law it will be asked that it be enforced.

t be enforced.

The matter has become a most flagrant ffense and the demand for the pictures s steadily increasing, owing to the promi-cence with which they are displayed, but one local stationer lost two very good customers the other day because he had his windows filled with indecent pictures.

Young Wife's Sad Death.

The death yesterday at Bingham Junction of Mrs. Rose Kenny, the young wife of Bernard Kenny, was one of the saddest events recorded for a long time in that town. She gave birth to twin girls on Wednesday and suffered terribly. For twenty-six hours she was under the effects of chloroform while everything that could be thought of was done to relieve her, but she passed away yesterday at noon. The funeral will be announced later, first honors in the land of Oz belong to a nice young Cow named Imogene. Cows ordinarily, though lovable, are clumsy animals. Generally they are, we may say, rather stupid. One may gaze in vain into their big, beautiful eyes, without seeing any evidence of fine intelligence. Only in the frisking of a tail, or in the ungracious action of a hind leg at milking time, or in rude and senseless mooing, do they as a rule, give expression to their feelings.

But Imogene is different Imogene shows that a cow may be graceful and polite, if she tries. Think of this bright helfer standing on her hind legs and making gestures in a cultured manner! Think of her going about among the people of the company and showing as much curiosity as the most refined girl on the stage! Think of this young animal as able not merely to raise a hoof for the bovine purpose of scratching the area behind herear, but as also sprightly enough to toss the hoof as high as any of the human femining beings, who have doubtless had much better training, can toss their silp-pered toes! Imogene of course cannot sing, but no more can some of those who tried to do so. And, anyway, this being a musical extravaganza, what do you expect?

On the human side there was much On the human side there was much comedy of varying quality. The Scare-crow and the Tin Woodman, of which we have heard so much, were amusing, and though Montgomery and Stone, who created the characters, are not in this company, the men who do take the parts, Bert and John Swor, are satisfactory, especially to those who have not seen the others.

The chorus may be said to be a slim one, but not by way of reproach. The girls are slender and graceful and very prettily dressed, the costumes being as fresh as any ever seen on a chorus here. The solo singing was a cause of disappointment. Scenery and girls combined made very pretty pictures, the poppy scene being especially charming. The affair is staged handsomely throughout, and the effects are pleasing, though the storms showed some hesitation at times.

The audience was a large one, filling the house. Sales have been heavy for the remaining performances.

Virtue rewarded, the orphan given a home and the complete annihilation of vice found sympathy and applause from the audience at the opening of the season at the Grand theater last night. The windings of the villain's machinations in the "Orphan's Prayer" were followed with much intentness by those present, and Clinton Crosby, the "bad baronet," earned the sincere hatred of the orphan's friends. Pred M. Tillish, who played the part, really did all that could be expected of a well-regulated villain, while Thomas Sewell, who took the role of his slayer, the good man, left a due impression on the minds of his sympathizers.

Nettle DeCoursey, in the title role of the Orphan, was the star of the company, and rather outshone the others. Frank Iresen as the old farmer, won favor, and A. J. Hicks in the comic part of the rustic idiot, made several hits. The engagement is for the rest of the week, including Saturday matinee.

Promising Career as a Highwayman Nipped in the Bud.

Mike Rosa, a Finn, who evidently has an ambition to become an all-around bad man, was arrested on Commercial street last night by Patrolman Emil Johnson. When searched Rosa had in his possession a pair of brass "knucks" and a pocketful of revolver cartridges.

Upon investigating, Officer Johnson learned that Rosa had visited several pawn shops in the Tenderloin district in an attempt to purchase a sandbag None of the establishments carried a line of the above-mentioned articles in stock, so Rosa was compelled to satisfy himself with a set of "knucks."

The arrested man told several conflicting stories when taken into custody, and he was locked up until the police can make further investigation. From the assortment of footpad's accounterments found in his possession, the officers believe Rosa was contemplating a midnight session on some dark street.
